

INDIVIDUAL
TRAJECTORIES

SCHOOL OF SYSTEM CHANGE

A global community of change agents is our best chance for accelerating a sustainable future

FIELDWORK

Basecamp Americas Summer 2021 Learn to navigate complex challenges.

A six month online learning journey starting June 2021

FORUM FOR THE FUTURE

Systems change.

We're setting off with a purpose:
to explore creating the change we want.

The School is mapping the emerging field of system change for sustainability, and getting (lots) more people and their organizations inspired, geared up and venturing out to implement transformational change.

We invite you to come along.

The going may be tough, the visibility poor, the environment fast-changing; as a global community our new skills will help us meet these challenges. Together we will think in systems, design strategies, implement and innovate systemically and reach for wider impact. We will be collaborative, interconnected, learning and leading through practice, and continuously updating our knowledge to match the evolving landscape.

Basecamp Americas

We are looking for inspired and intrepid individuals from business, not-for-profits, public sector organizations and other enablers of change to form a strong cohort of twenty participants for this learning journey.

Key dates & activities:

Online learning with peer group and coaching support

Throughout of the course
Approximately 5 hours per week including online group sessions, reading, individual exercises, Fieldwork project and coaching time

Monthly webinar series

Throughout of the course
2 hour sessions every 4 weeks focused on one chapter of the Navigation Guide resource; 6 webinars in total

First intensive learning week

June 7, 8, 9 and 10
Mon to Thurs
Introductory activities and facilitated learning across 4 full days

Fieldwork kick off

July 7, Wed
Immerse in a real-world challenge on which to practice your learning

Second intensive learning session

Aug 2, 3 and 4,
Mon to Wed
Facilitated learning across 3 full days

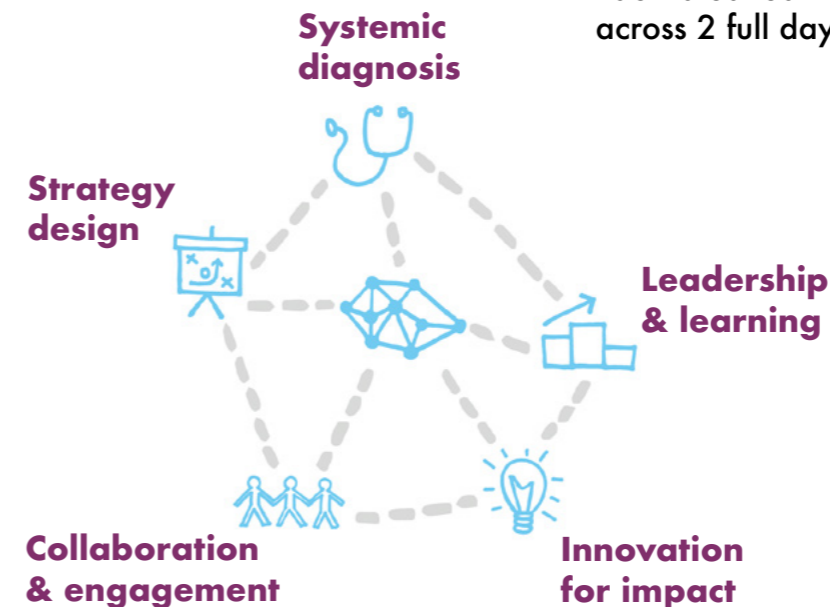

Third intensive learning session

September 13 and 14
Mon to Tues
Facilitated learning across 2 full days

Closing intensive learning session

November 15 and 16,
Mon to Tues
Facilitated learning across 2 full days

Key capabilities:

Seed.
Nurture.
Grow.
Learn.
Reseed.
Track the change.

Outcomes

The participants on Basecamp Americas will return from this journey:

Capable of understanding and diagnosing complex systems

Equipped with a toolkit of varied systemic methods and approaches for developing and working on multi-stakeholder projects

Prepared to make choices about where and how to act to create positive change

Laid a foundation for leading transformational change in their field

Having tested their learning on complex, real-life sustainability challenges

Linked to an international network of people and support

66 My goal now is to be at the forefront of systemic thought for sustainability

Dina Epifanova, Head of Sustainability, TetraPak Russia 99

66 The School of System Change team has curated a lifetime of tools into a succinct course.

Gina Lamotte, Founder & Executive Director, Ecorise 99

Facilitators

Georgia Rubenstein leads Forum's global system change coaching workstream, supporting organizations to build their capacity and capabilities to catalyze and sustain structural and transformative system change. She works with colleagues and the broader field to discover ways to bring systemic mindsets and practices into the everydayness of how we work, and supports partners to do this in the ways that are most relevant for their needs and ambition.

Sean Andrew is a systemic coach at Forum and is committed to the potential of awareness, dialogue and ways of organizing for creating change. He designs, hosts and facilitates transformative conflict, action-inquiry and collaborative processes that help us work on complex challenges through emergent approaches. Sean is continuously exploring how our next step can be an expression of the world we yearn to live into.

Fees

Corporate / philanthropy	US$9,800
NGO / social enterprise / public sector	US$6,860
Individual / freelance:	US$4,900

*A 30% discount is offered at the corporate / philanthropy tier to partners of Forum for the Future.

VAT does not apply.

Apply now to Basecamp Americas

<https://www.forumforthefuture.org/basecamp-americas-summer-2021>

For more information please contact: school@forumforthefuture.org